Praxis: How the Church Practices Its Faith. Hospitality.

In the Gospels, Jesus is always taking something ordinary and making it unique. In Matthew 25:31-40 he tell us that when we are doing the ordinary things like giving clothes to the needy, feeding someone who is hungry, or visiting someone in prison; that we are doing a significant practice in God's name as unto God himself. Together as a group read Matthew 25:31-40.

- What is Jesus communicating as important?
- When have you had your need met by someone else in this specific way?

Throughout the Old and New Testament, God is establishing a practice of radical sharing and generosity. He is always making room for the “common good” amongst his covenant people.

- Have someone read Acts 2:42-46 and another read Romans 12:9-13.
- To what Christian living instructions does the writer make hospitality equal too?
- What kinds of things get in the way of taking hospitality seriously in our own lives?

How we invite others into our lives is a mark of His presence in our lives. We are called to make room for others, because God made room for us.

- How do we overcome our own inherited personality, when it is tempting to use it as an excuse to not be kind and hospitable?
- Why does opening our homes and time to others require an emotional toll?
- Where have you see this being done well in the lives of others?
- What about their practice is worth emulating in your own life?

At Grace Community Church, we want to make room for the sojourner and stranger. We want children to feel welcome, friendships to be started, and people to find a place of refreshment when they enter our building. As we prepare to move into our first, permanent facility...

- Where do you see us doing this well?
- Where have you been involved in the past at Grace in making this a hospitable place for our city?
